A Letter From the Editor

Karen Alford Randy Shamburger

49
Seniors:
From the first day of school to graduation 300 students kicked off the year with a blast. Remember the fun times, friends, and spirit. Turn the pages to look ahead and see the class of 1984 in color.

Table of Contents

Underclass:
Q. What do you get when you mix Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors with lots of vicacity and excitement? A. Three crazy classes! Over 1200 students showed their spirit throughout the school year. Thumb through the pages to see if your face might be on that special page.

82
Faculty:
Administrators, teachers, liasons, custodians, and staff all contributed to the success of this school year. Don't forget the people who helped "Make it great"! Be sure to turn the pages to find out what's the dumbest thing your teacher ever did along with the one moment they would most like to relive.

Activities:
Remember Kick-Off Dance, Spirit Week, Homecoming Game, Homecoming Court, Sadie Hawkins Dance, Christmas Spirit, Play, Faculty Follies, Prom Court, and our Spirit Leaders? Well, if you don't refresh your memory by turning the pages to see these special events and (extra) spirited students! Find out how much work is put into being a Song girl, Varsity Cheerleader, J.V. Cheerleader, Lettergirl, and Mascot.

130
Organizations:
Fleur de Lis, MESA, H.E.A.T., Ink and Feathers, Photo Club, Executive Council, Supreme Court, CSF, ASU, Drama Club, ... The list is almost endless. Have you ever listened to the daily bulletin? There is at least one club meeting every day. Flip the pages to view your face in that unique club. And while your at it be sure to find out what your club is really all about.

148
Sports:
Every sport needs long, grueling hours devoted to practice to give it a competitive edge. Irate coaches, tired athletes, and worn cheerleaders are seen on crowded fields and packed gymnasium as practice begins. As early as 2:30 grunts ... groans ... "and a 5, 6, 7, and 8" ... "Can I take time out?" ... "Aaagh!!" are heard on Hill campus. Don't forget the students and coaches who put in a lot of time to help make this a successful year.

Dedication:
Hardworking, enthusiastic, friendly and dedicated make up the special qualities of this extra special person. The 1983-84 Talon has been dedicated to a very noteworthy lady by the name of Mrs. Barbara Z. Dawson.

Modeling Today's Look

Fashion . . . What is it? Can it be defined? No one person is the same. What may look great on one person may may look lifeless on another. Fashion changes with the seasons and with the people. What is "in" today can be "out" tomorrow. Since everybody's idea of fashion varies, we asked several students to try and define FASHION . . .

Bernard Lawfasa — Fashion is . . . sporty outfits, clean dressing, like baggies, designer jeans and all that JAZZZ . . .

Chris Herran — Fashion is dressing to stay in style. Fashion is wearing clothes which reflect your personality. Fashion is a fad which helps you to remember past years. Most of all, fashion is a fun way of spending lots of money on clothes.

Sonny Pak — The definition of fashion is the current style of dress, conduct. But my definition of fashion is any kind of style of dress that shows someone's personality or image.

Yearbook Staff

Section Editors: (L to R) Carmel, Julie, Jackie, Barbara. Top: Myrna

This year's yearbook class was composed of many hard working students who were willing to put out the extra effort that it took to make this the best yearbook ever. The section Editors worked closely with the other staff members to make their sections the best possible; and the editors (Karen and Randy) pulled it all together to form an organized collection of memories that we call the TALON.

Three good uses for this year's yearbook are:
1. As a weapon against little brothers and sisters.
2. As a picture prop.
3. Good flat surface for chopping wood.

Mike Ingersoll

A goal for this year's yearbook is to reach perfection, to do our very best, and to try and please everyone.

Julie Perreira

This year's Talon has three main uses:
1. As firewood on a cold winter night.
2. To put a person to sleep on a boring evening.
3. To throw at attackers for protection.

Katherine Sardell

Mike tries to learn sign-language.

Chris takes a break to read the newspaper!

I would feel terrible if the yearbook class was dropped tomorrow. It would be miserable!

Barbara Endter

What are three good uses for this year's yearbook?

1. To remember your friends.
2. To remember your favorite teachers. (Ha! Ha!)
3. To throw at someone when you get mad, just like my mother did!

Myrna Martinez

I would feel deprived that I could not be a part of the annual making of lifetime memories.

Carmel Ordaz

I feel, if the yearbook advisor (Mr. Guido) could be highlighted in the Senior Mosts he would fall under the categories of Most Colorful, and Most Loveable. I think he is the King of Pink . . .

Jackie Erwin

We think Mr. Guido, the yearbook advisor, should be nominated for most likely to be run over by a street-car, trampled by a herd of wild elephants, and caught in a rain storm, all on the fourth of July, in the middle of the Mohave Desert.

Chris and Randy Shamburger

If there were no yearbook class . . .
I would feel like there would be no reason to attend school if we can't have a book to remember all these great years.

Tina Costa

My yearbook advisor should be placed in the snobish, grouchiest, craziest, weirdest, and nicest catagories if he could be highlighted in the Senior Most.

Debbie Gutierrez

One good use for the yearbook is to remember the good time we had at school and the friends we made along the way.

Phillip Martinez

Three good uses for this year's yearbook are:

1. To look at 20 years from now.
2. To stick on a bookshelf.
3. As a last resort when you're bored and don't have anything to do.

Ernest Apolinear

If there were no yearbook class . . .
we wouldn't have any place to eat our lunch!

Karen and Sonny

"Well, that's not the way I think it should be done."

Our next centerfold?

Lunch Time!

Our Fearless Advisor: Mr. Guido

Dedication

Dedication

We dedicated this year's yearbook to a vivacious and outstanding person; one who cares about Andrew Hill and especially about the students. She came to us four years ago, and with her, came the energy and finesse that has turned the image of Andrew Hill completely around. Today, Andrew Hill is a highly competitive academic learning center with students who have pride in their school. Not only has the academic spirit of the school increased since her arrival, but the athletic spirit has increased as well. We owe our gratitude for these fine accomplishments to our principal and leader, Mrs. Barbara Dawson.

In the area of academics, Mrs. Dawson demanded that students and staff maintain standards of academic excellence. Her demands were tough, but they soon paid off as student test scores improved. She set up mandatory workshops for the faculty to strengthen their teaching skills and often sat in on their classrooms to view their progress. Her persistence in maintaining high academic standards has produced a school which is now highly competitive with other schools in the district in academic competitions, such as our Math Team that finished 3rd in the County; our Mock Trial Team that finished 2nd in the County; and our prestigious Academic Decathlon Team that ended 8th overall in the Santa Clara County. Her last minute pep talks often made the difference between winning and losing.

In the area of athletics, Mrs. Dawson was an avid fan. She expected our Falcons to compete to the best of their abilities; and whether they won or lost, she was always there to cheer them on. Her encouragement has produced many winning teams.

We wish to thank you, Mrs. Dawson, for giving us all that you have. Your overall positive attitude has made everyone proud to be Falcons!

This year's freshmen did a great job. They wasted no time in raising money for their class by having a candy sale and a Christmas candy sale. The freshmen also gift wrapped in December and held a dance in January. "It takes a while to get used to the high school life but I think we are fitting in." says Freshmen class President Sonya Thorton. All in all, the Freshmen worked hard this and they now deserve the title "Sophomores".

As freshmen we experienced high school life for the first time. However, now as Sophomores we started to set goals that we are striving to accomplish by '86. One of our goals was to raise money for upcoming events, such as the prom in our Junior year. To help accomplish this goal we held a dance in March and also sold candy. As Sophomores we are hoping to start new trends and give a stronger and more definite meaning to "The class of '86!"

The sophisticated, elite Junior class showed their dominant supremacy in every area pertaining to modern man. They were lead by many fine officers. Their infinite ideas provided a perfect resource for multitudes of activities. They earned "Falcons" of dollars from the ingeniously well run Christmas dance, and candy sales. The class proved their efficiency by masterminding a monumental Junior prom. No doubt about it, the class of "85" is a class to watch, thanks to the outstanding Juniors.

Officers

Advisor:
Mr. Shimizu

This year was definitely the year we were all waiting for. We started off great with one of the biggest dances ever at Hill. At Christmas, we won second place with Christmas in the park and spent long hours collecting cans for the Jack Emery Drive. Our work paid off though when we killed the other classes by collecting over 1,200 cans and all the spirit points, even though we were narrowly defeated by the faculty in a basketball game in March. We started something that will hopefully become a traditional event for every senior class. Our spirit never ended as we sold boxes and boxes of Almond Roca Candy as a fundraiser. When spring approached, Senioritis started to set in on most of us. On some days there were more students on the beach than in class. Our prom become our next project. Hard work went into planning it, but what a night it turned out to be! Our senior picnic was a day to remember also. It was a day when our entire class was able to be close for one of the last times this year. Finally, the day when we were all in caps and gowns arrived, and our last time together was soon to be ended. We started many new trends in our years at Andrew Hill, setting standards that will be hard to meet. We are leaving now with a sense of pride, for we survived the last four years through good and bad; we have earned the right to be FALCONS . . . forever.

Our Song

We begin our journey through the first of four years,
With an innocent face so timid and shy.
We face new people, new problems, and fears,
Knowing we could fail yet willing to try.

We learn how to read how to write, and to add,
As we develop the ability to deal with stress.
We make many decisions, both good and bad,
And find in our errors a hidden success.

Through the second year we establish quite well,
A mature personality that sets a new trend.
We learn from our elders just how to tell,
The teachers to con and the rules we can bend.

We have many friendships that grow really fast,
Yet we have many others that drift far apart.
As the days become memories and a part of the past,
A unique kind of love grows from within the heart.

It is a spirit that builds in times of victory,
And tears that fall in moments of defeat.
Showing pride and confidence with no guarantee,
That our team is victorious before the game is complete.

We have many teachers with skills to relay,
The knowledge we learn helps develop our traits.
We experience emotion every minute each day,
Some happy, some sad, some of love and of hate.

When we finally become aware of our future at hand,
The final year of our journey is soon going to end.
We take the last breath of knowledge our minds can withstand,
Before taking the path we choose to ascend.

Our image is both respected and feared,
Resembling great unity that many try to stop.
And when all others fail there finally appears,
. . . the Andrew Hill Falcons alone at the top.

Special Feature

When I first moved here from New York I thought I was destined for a life of boredom. But as time went on I met some of the nicest people in the world. As I went to school with these "falcons", life in California and at Andrew Hill became totally "Gumbylike."

As my Senior year approached me, I wanted to do something special for my school. I decided to bring our childhood hero of the animated world back to life . . . (with the help of Eddie Murphy). Hence, Gumby Lives!! As school continued he was adopted as the class of 84's Senior mascot!

Since Gumby and I are the best of friends, we like to do the same things and what not. We both love Snickers, and Cream of Wheat. After school we usually "bolt" to Brian or Martin's house to eat some jelly and butter sandwiches. At night we like to listen to "Genesis" and "The Police." On weekends we like to bolt with our buddy Fred Jones to a movie or a "Social Gathering" (Party). But we never ever miss Saturday Night live . . . how can we miss something that is . . . "Live from New York!" Finally to all you Jones, who will be remaining at Andrew Hill . . . "Slater!"

Clowns

Being a Senior Clown is a thank less job, but everyone who gets involved with being a clown seems to love it. You get to break loose every friday and wear a silly costume, act strange, and even look strange. You get the strangest looks from people, especially the freshmen. The best part about it though is the great big smiles you get from people as you walk by them. The main job of a Senior Clown is to raise spirit, but they also have another job. They get to sell spirit stuff at games and rallies. All three of us really enjoyed our year of being Senior Clowns, especially since we've been stupid clowns since our freshmen year!

Now that our senior year is ending, the rest of our life is just beginning. We've taken our last step together. It's time to go our own way; to journey through new valleys and find bigger mountains to climb.

We've got one special thing that will always be in our hearts, and that's the wonderful memories we have of each other; memories that no one can ever take away from us; memories of the love we've shared . . . and memories that are saved for those quiet, lonely moments when we will sit back and remember the good 'ole days and wish we were there.

Andrew Hill will never forget the spirited class of '84, and we'll never forget Andrew Hill . . . because it holds for us, the special memories of all the happy times when we laughed together, and the sad times when we cried. Even though we are leaving this place called Andrew Hill, a part of it, a part of each day we spent here, will stay with us forever.

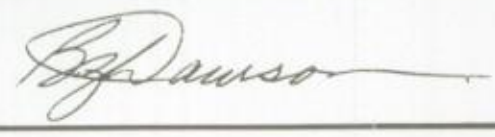
Mrs. Barbara Dawson

The dumbest thing I did was when I wore mismatched shoes to school and to the doctors. I was so ill I did not pay attention to the style of the shoes. Of course, both shoes were black. I would love to relive a spiritual experience in which I heard the voice of the Lord. The peaceful feeling was overwhelming.

A letter from our leader

According to numerous comments that have been made to me regarding our school, the work that our administrators, staff, parents and students have been doing, particularly for the past three years, to enhance Andrew Hill's image is certainly producing positive results. For example, the physical appearance of Andrew Hill is more attractive, our campus climate is more positive, most of the test scores are rising, some of our achievements are being publicized more regularly, students who make academic accomplishments are being recognized and our articulation activities with our feeder schools have been increased. With the purchase of a printing press through the $20,000 grant that we received last year from the Ford Foundation Academy for Education Development, more instructional materials of better quality are being reproduced. Our communication with the parents is steadily increasing with the use of our Tel-Sol equipment. Our student leaders should be commended for promoting tremendous school spirit and school pride. Truly, I am grateful for the efforts that everyone has put forth to change some of the negative perceptions about our school because Andrew Hill is a fine educational institution.

To our graduating seniors: Thank you for all of the academic and athletic contributions you have made to Andrew Hill since your freshman year! Remember, your attitude can help to determine whether you will become a winner or a loser in life. It is important for you to have a positive attitude, to set goals, to make the commitment to accomplish them, and to develop a plan of action. Keep dreaming; keep thinking that you can; keep trying, and you will experience success. Have a happy, healthy, and productive life. I LOVE YOU ALL.



Administration

Mr. Passalaqua

The dumbest experience I ever had, took place while I was traveling through Europe in 1965. I was exchanging Swiss francs for Italian liras. In the exchange, I miscalculated the rate and lost $100.40. What a dumb mistake!! Also, one of the most unforgetable events in my life is when I was able to observe the birth of my one and only daughter, Gisette. I truly believe that this event is one of the most sensational and thrilling events that any parent could experience.

Mr. Chamorro

The dumbest thing that ever happened to me was probably the occasion when I went grocery shopping. When it came time to pay for the groceries, I took out my checkbook and discovered that I had no more checks. If I could relive an event of my life it would be the time my Family and I spent a terrific vacation at Tahoe about four years ago.

Faculty

Mr. Adams

Mr. Boone

The scariest thing that ever happened to me was when my wife and I were visiting some friends in San Francisco with our two children. My 2-year old daughter Kendra got lost. After about an hour and a half, we finally found her. One of the neighbors found her knocking on people's front doors and calling for her mommy.

Mrs. Becker

When asked what she thought about the change in students attitudes toward the future in the last ten years, Ms. Becker replied, "Students seem a bit more pessemestic than the past but more incline to become active in affecting changes."

Mr. Bouchard

An event I would like to relive would be watching my wife walk down the aisle at our wedding. This event stands out as one of the happiest moments in my life. Others would include getting my first set of drums for Christmas, owning my first sportscar, and getting out of the Army.

Mr. Berg

The scariest thing that ever happened to me was when I was backpacking in the Sierras, by myself. While priming my stove I accidentally spilled some gas on the ground and it caught fire. I almost started a forest fire, but fortunately I was able to put it out. I could have been a fried Berger.

Mr. Bowman

"Huh?"

Mr. Bowman was asked, "What advice do you have for the students of Andrew Hill?" He replied, "When in doubt, take two and hit to right." (Translation: Be conservative.)

Faculty

Mrs. Brison

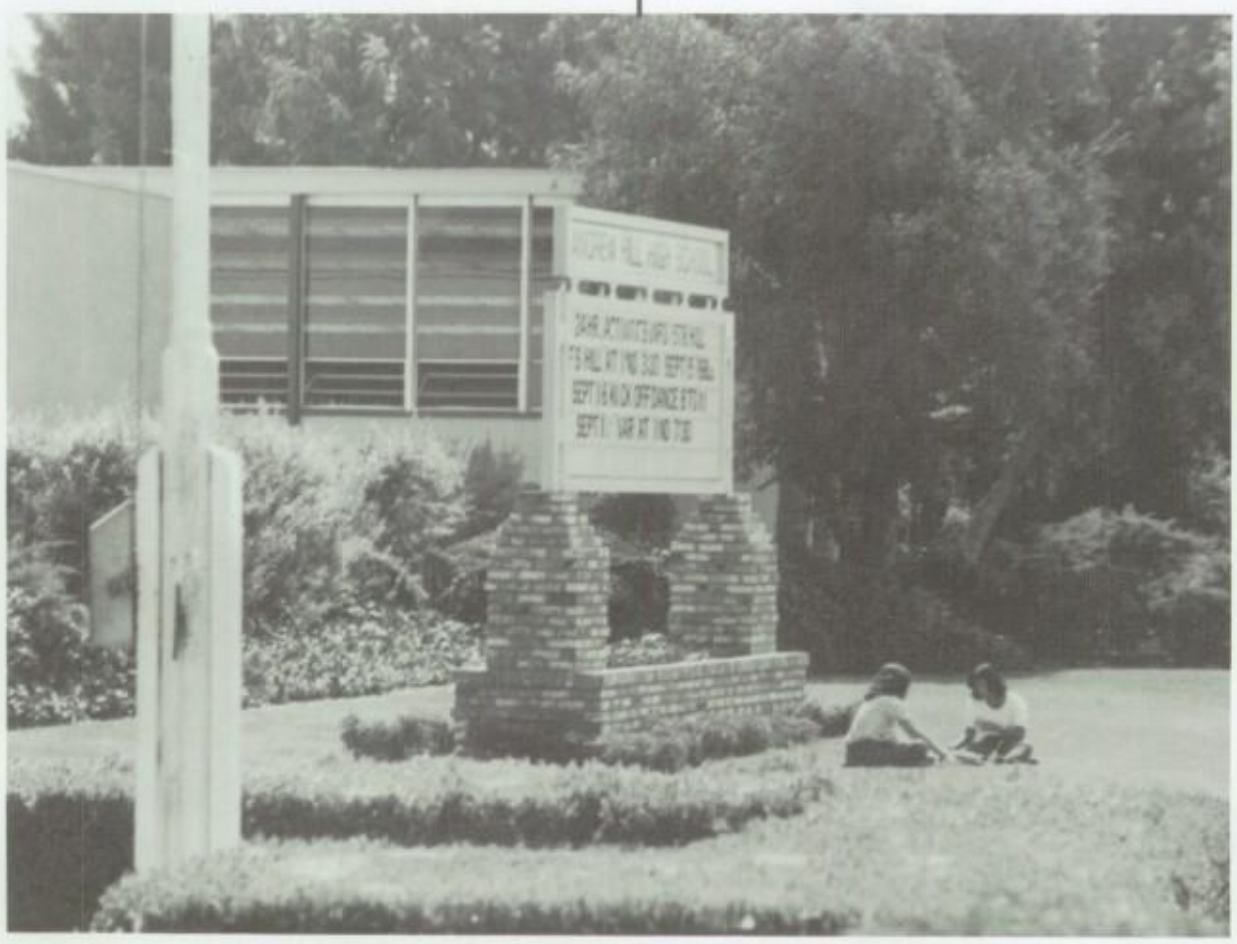
The scariest thing that ever happened to me occurred while I was camping in Tuolumne Meadows in Yosemite. There were a lot of bears around at night and they always woke us up. One night a bear got hold of a cooler and rolled it against the side of our tent. He sat only a few inches from where we were sleeping. After about 15 minutes he left, but I got very little sleep the rest of the night.

Mr. Burner

My most frightening experience occurred when my wife and I were driving in the Sierra foothills during the winter on our way to Yosemite. The road was windy and icy. On one curve we went into a right skid and were rapidly approaching a steep embankment. Luckily, I regained control before we crashed. Needless to say we drove very slowly for the rest of the trip.

Mr. Cang

The one event that I'd like to relive is to enjoy my schooling in France. As a foreign student in France, I spent most of my time studying instead of taking it easy. I missed a lot of opportunities to travel and enjoy the people of France. Also, the dumbest thing that ever happened to me was when my pick-up was painted a different color by some of our students before thanksgiving, 1983.



During the summer this bulletin board was remodeled as part of Andrew Hill's campus beautification plan.

Mr. Marichalar stops to chat with Tracy Garett and Kelley Perez.

This picture says it all.

Ms. Chaboya

The dumbest thing I've ever done was to drive my car in the garage and kept going, hitting the washer and dryer, and knocking a hole in my insurance company.

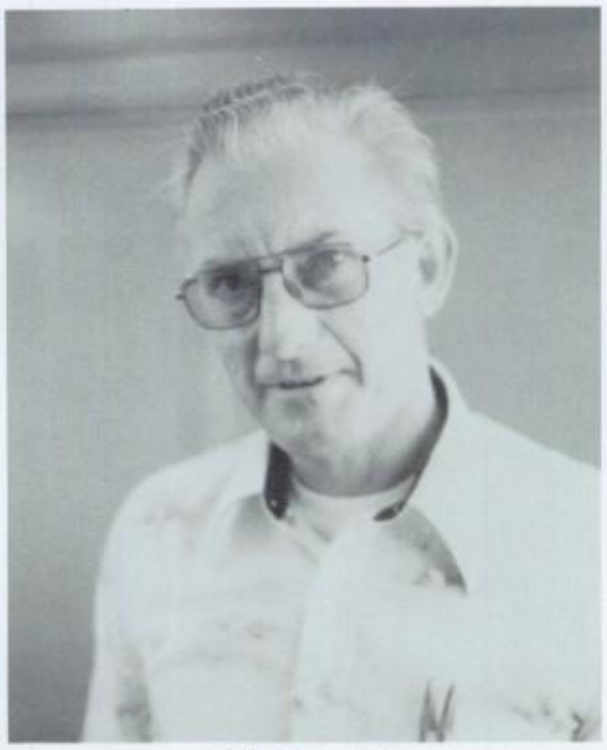
Dumb things never happen to me, however, I have done many dumb things. By the way, I feel pretty dumb right now because I can't think of anything to write. As for what event in my life I would relive if I could, it would be my birthday. Oh, and I wouldn't mind being Michael Jackson again . . . I had lots of new friends for a while.



Mr. Crandall

Mr. Crowther

Mrs. Clausell

The dumbest thing that I have done was to ride the Greyhound Bus to Fresno during the strike!

Mr. Cline

I would like to relive my experience in Selma, Alabama during the Civil Rights Crisis of 1965. It was an experience I'll never forget because it had personal as well as national and human significance. As for the scariest thing that ever happened to me was when I was scuba diving and ran out of air at 120 feet. That was almost as bad as driving highway 17 everyday.

Mrs. Davenport

An event I would like to relive happened while I was swimming and diving in the Carribean. A lady came up and asked me where I had trained. I replied that I had never trained and asked why she asked. She then told me that she had never seen such a good swimmer who dives so well too. When I asked how far she had gone in swimming I found out that she was an ex-Olympic Gold Medalist!

Faculty

I don't want to relive any great events in my life. It isn't that I haven't had any great events in my life, because I have. I'm still looking forward to the future. And, the dumbest thing that ever happened to me shouldn't be printed!

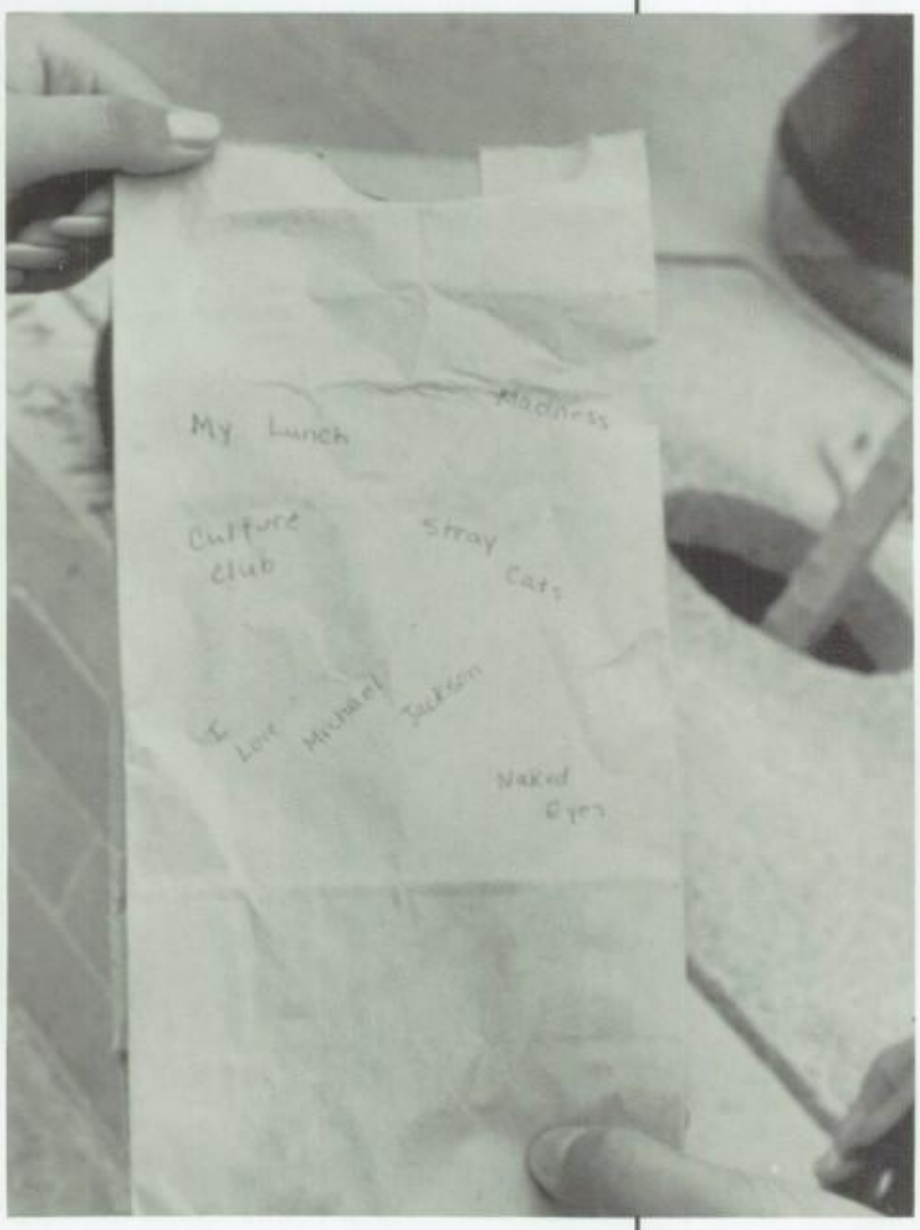
Mrs. Davis

Mr. Dickerson

My Advice, for the students, is to remember to be receptive to new information and new ideas. You'll be a lot more interesting as a person if you do.

Mr. Dutra

If I could relive one event of my life it would be the birth of my children. At the time they were born I don't truly believe that I was adequately aware of the significance of their existance. They are a very special part of my life.



Mr. McCammon helps Penny and Tanya.

Mr. Farfan

The birth of my children were exciting, my honeymoon #2 was exciting, my fishing and snorkling trips were exciting, but I would relive the summer day at the Pleasanton Fair Grounds. That day I won $1300 "playing the ponies."

Mr. Franke

When I do have some sparetime, I enjoy cartooning. I have had my work published in several magazines dealing with comic art. I like photography, sharp students and 8 hrs. sleep. I am involved in scouting and with the youth at church. I am also a H.E.A.T. advisor, so don't waiste your energy asking me if I am.

Mr. Frias

"Help!"

The dumbest thing I ever did was trying to ski down Gunbarrel at Heavenly! And the event I would like to relive would be the moment I decided to ski down Gunbarrel. (I'm sure I'd make the right decision the second time around.)

Mr. Gallock

The scariest thing that ever happened to me happened a few years ago. My family and I were riding with Mr. Russell in his new boat across lake Tahoe. The boat died in the very middle of the lake and Mr. Russell radioed and got hold of the Coast Guard. They sent a boat to resue us. The adventure lasted about three hours and was caused by an empty gas tank!

Mr. G. Garcia

If I could relive are event of my life it would be the time I spent 3 months somewhere on the beach in Mexico. I enjoyed the water and sun, reading good books and drinking Pina Coladas in the company of my true love. Also, the dumbest thing that ever happened to me was at our annual end of the year picnic of the L.A.S.O. club. The members threw me in the pool, clothes and all.

Mrs. Menge is holding a students hand hostage.

Mrs. Shimizu discusses child care with Carrie Martinez.

Mr. Germaine

The dumbest thing that ever happened to me was during an Olympic Day class track meet at Andrew Hill. I was designated to be the official starter for the running events. I was to start the race for the girls sprinters from each class. There were too many, false starts and I was getting tired of holding the gun over my head. Since the girls would probably jump again, I lowered the gun to ear level and repeated the command, "On your mark, get set." I suddenly realized that the girls were ready and it was time to fire the gun, so I did. The instant the bang went off I had a terrific pain as if someone had jabbed a needle in my ear drum. This pain lasted for about two weeks and resulted in severe hearing loss. It was the dumbest thing I could ever do.

Mr. Goodman

Mr. Gotelli

The scariest thing I did was to climb to the top of Dante's View at 4:30 a.m., when it was dark, to view the sunrise. When the sun did rise I saw that I was 5,000 ft. above the floor or Death Valley. I crawled all the way down. The day I would like to relive is the day the 49ers won the Super Bowl. Actually I can relive it, because I have a video cassette of the game! Go 49ers!!

While diving in the ocean in La Jobla, C, I saw a white pole in the seaweed. As I got closer, I saw that it was shaped like a shark's tail fin. Just then three other divers approached and investigated. The object turned out to be a 12 ft. hammer head shark! The scary moment ended when we all realized it was dead, but the experience has always stayed with me as the scariest moment in my life.

Mr. Guido

The dumbest thing that ever happened to me was in the year 1976. The sun was shining and I was in a really good mood. My art class was completing their latest project and I had just finished lunch. Then, the principal stopped by my room and asked me if I wanted to go and teach at Andrew Hill the next year. The diet soda I was drinking suddenly took effect and I blurted out "Yes" . . . well the rest is history.

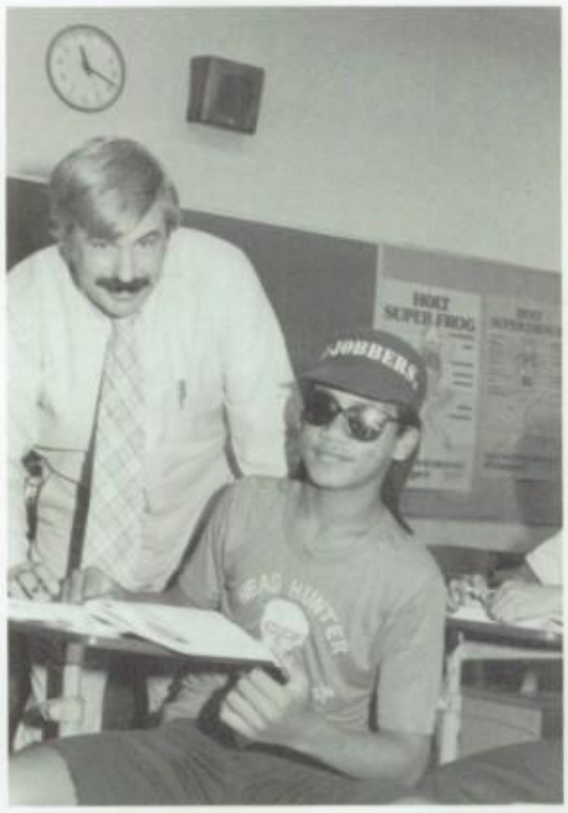
One summer when I was working at a swim club in West Los Angeles, I was guarding a swimming pool. I had been watching a little boy jump off the diving board and swimming to the edge of the pool. This one time he went off the board and he didn't come up soon enough for me. I went in after him, took him to the side of the pool and asked if he was alright. He replied "What did you do that for? I was swimming under water!!" (Dumb!!)



Mr. McCammon

Then are too many pleasant experiences to single out just one in my life. Possible I would choose from such events as my marriage, birth of my children, finishing my master's degree, children leaving home, discovering KFAT radio station, vegging out at Tahoe, learning to single ski, getting rid of pimples and a cowlick, or many others. The dumbest thing I have ever done was to get lost in the woods near McClures Beach at Pt. Reyes. It was foggy and I lost my way. I finally got back to camp when I found a road.

Mr. Manning

The thing that scared me the most was the time I was in the paratroopers and the trooper behind me jumped too soon and landed on the canopy of my parachute. My chute was beginning to colse and both of us were headed to the ground without any air in our chutes. I quickly caused the air to spill out of my chute and made the trooper roll off. We made it safely to the ground. In all of the jumps after that, I told the guy behind me to "look before you leap!"

The dumbest experience I had was when I took some good friends of mine to a restaurant for a treat. When it came time to pay the bill, I discovered, I had forgotten my billfold at home. My friends had less than a fraction of the money needed to cover the bill. After a great deal of difficulty the matter was settled amicably. However, I still recall the embarassment of being caught short. Also the moment of my life that I would like to relive is when a student thanked me for helping him.

One of the scariest thing that ever happened to me was during a swimming race with the Dolphin Club of San Francisco. I observed an "object" swimming nearby. My first thought was that it had to be a shark but after a few long moments, I realized it was a seal moving slowing away from me. I credit the seal for helping me finish the race faster than the year before!

The dumbest event in my life was getting in a car accident the very first day I came to teach at Andrew Hill. The one event I would like to relive is the day the Andrew Hill Tennis Team defeated Piedmont Hills for the Boy's Varsity Tennis Championships in 1976.

My advice for Andrew Hill students, is to never give up trying to improve yourselves. Remember the saying that "Nobody can help those who don't help themselves." Avoid being influenced by those who discourage you by saying that you are too old, you will never make it because you are in the wrong minority group, etc. If you have the desire and determination to work hard, you can reach any goal you set, no matter how high it may be.

Having a family of "roof" rats move into the attic of my house and not pay any rent! That had to be the scariest thing that ever happened to me. They would wake me at 3a.m. and when one would fall off a beam it would sound as though it was landing on the floor or coming through the wall. Closing all possible entrances to the attic was one way of getting them to move out permanently! But as I was picking raspberries one morning and started to move I looked down and there was a big fat hairy rat. I ran like crazy back to the house.

The scariest event in my life was when I capsized riding the rapids on the Stanislaus River, lost my boat and was taken under by a whirl pool. When I came up, I heard another 10 foot waterfall ahead and swam for the side. Attending the Olympic Games in Tokyo, Japan would be the one event in my life I would relive if I was given the chance.

Dance

The Kick-Off Dance held last September had several unique qualities to it. For one, it turned out to be the biggest dance that Andrew Hill has had in many years. The seniors somehow managed to get over 500 people to attend. Because of the overwhelming attendance, another record was broken as well. The dance grossed over $1,400, for a profit of just under $900 after all the expenses were paid, which is more money than any single fundraiser has ever made in Andrew Hill's history. The dance's success can be attributed to two things: one, solid planning by the senior class and secondly, an Andrew Hill D.J. by the name of Hassan Loharsingh.

The dance committee began planning the dance as soon as school started. Susan Lamkin, who was in charge of the committee, made sure everything was ready to go by the start of the dance. However, the disc jockey Hassan Loharsingh (D'Jam) was the key factor. His popularity drew people from all over San Jose. He is known as the best rock, soul, punk, and new wave D.J. in the state. Anyone with that kind of credit will surely draw a crowd.

The students who attended this record breaking dance were thrilled from beginning to end. Everyone was dancing. Vice Principal Elias Chamorrow commented, "I saw a lot of spirit and enthusiasm. I'm very impressed with the seniors for their effort in making this the best dance ever." In all, nothing but good things can be said about our kick-off dance this year. It was truly a great success.

Andrew Hill Song Girls

The 1983-84 Song girl spirit squad began their season at U.S.A. Summer Spirit Camp where they worked very hard learning new moves and great routines for the upcoming year. These dedicated Pom-Pon Girls brought home many first place ribbons, a third place award for their own home routine, and a special "Declaration of Spirit Award". We were first dazzled by these talented young ladies at the Back-to-School assembly when they showed us their performance to "Mr. Raboto" by Styx. This spirit squad progressed through the year with eye-catching moves to such songs as "P.Y.T.", and even more from Michael Jackson's number one album "Thriller". They worked hard to invent spectacular new eight count routines and could often be viewed diligently practicing after school. Many smiles were kept on the faces of the crowds at both the football stadium and basketball gym. Much dedication, enthusiasm, and stamina went into the make-up of this squad. As Head Julie Perreria noted, "My squad is one bunch of spirited young ladies. We trained very hard over the summer and I'm proud of the results. These girls have what it takes to be a Song Girl. 'Elevate your mind, get yourselves together, when I say .... 1,2,3, Bunny Hopp with me.' " Congratulations girls, you helped to make this year great.

Varsity Cheerleaders

This years Varsity Cheerleading Squad consist soley of seniors. They were great in promoting spirit at rallies, and games. The squad spent many long hours preparing for the U.S.A. Summer Spirit Camp that they attended last summer. At camp, the cheerleaders cheered, yelled and worked together better than any other squad. They brought back the first place Best All Around Spirit Plaque. They also won a Superior trophy in addition to many first place blue ribbons. The cheerleaders debut at the first rally, when they performed their award winning cheer "We got a rhythm" was very successful. In October the squad entered the Spirit Nite competition in Los Gatos, where they won the first place trophy and a cash prize of $100. As football season progressed the varsity squad later competed at a competition sponsored by San Jose State University. This was an honor because only selected squads around the bay area were invited. At this special event, the Cheerleaders yelled their way to a second place!! Throughout basketball season and the rest of the rallies the Varsity Cheerleaders, along with the other squads, rocked the stands with their yells, giving Andrew Hill players and students the confidence that "We are No. 1" They produced the winning spirit that made our students proud to be Falcons.

The letter girls have been an asset to the spirit at Andrew Hill. Most of them were cheering for their first year. During the summer they attended a four-day U.S.A. Summer Spirit Camp held at the University of Santa Cruz. At camp, the girls worked hard learning cheers and routines that assisted them during rallies and games. All their hard work payed off. When it was time to come home they took with them a third place banner for their outstanding performance. At the first rally they continued their excellence by doing a fantastic job and since then it has all been up hill. Throughout the year, the lettergirls have shown much spirit and has represented the type of togetherness that builds from the letters A-N-D-R-E-W-H-I-L-L.

Spirits are Lifted High

While most J.V. Cheerleaders were selected during try-outs held the previous year, others were chosen this year to provide the oncoming freshmen a chance to participate in a spirit squad. These hard-working girls are often viewed enthusiastically practicing routines outside the cafeteria. Their intense effort payed off by the time the audience viewed a smoothly performed routine at the Frosh/Soph Football and Basketball games. In addition to practice excluding class time, these girls are required to attend a sixth period P.E. class, make posters for each game, and keep up their grades. The J.V. Flying High on Pride

This year's 1983-84 Mascot was vivacious senior Annie Henriques. Annie put all the spirit she could into everything she did. Not only did her spirited self fly in her falcon suit at football games and rallies, but, she also hyped everyone up around campus. She turned us from calm spectors to rowdy students at the games. Annie's charisma flowered like a stream. It touched the teachers, the students, and anyone else she came in contact with. When they picked Annie to be this year's mascot, they made the right choice. She has this quality about her that when she gets yelling, everybody joins in. Annie does not know the meaning of "unspirit". We will be sorry to say goodbye Annie. Your spirit will always be with us! We hope to see you and your spirit at future homecomings. Best of luck at B.Y.U. and the years thereafter. Spirit flies at Homecoming

It was an exciting evening for everyone last Friday, October 21 when the Varsity Falcons smashed the James Lick Comets 42-6, for a lopsided Homecoming victory. The spirit had been building all week as students dressed up each day in various attire; but, the real joy came as Hill won its second straight Homecoming Game. Cheerleaders, song girls and lettergirls from previous years joined this year's spirit squads in rooting our team to their fantastic victory. The larger than usual crowd also helped give the players the confidence they needed to be winners.

The night was full of action right from the beginning as the mighty falcons took a 28-0 halftime lead. The halftime celebration did not end, however, until the Homecoming Court was announced. The court consisted of Randy Shahburger and Sylvanna Granados as fourth place couple, Randy Ruiz and Linda Leong as third place couple, and Tom Ulufale and Vicky Mendoza who won the first runner-up position. The 1983-84 Homecoming King and Queen were seniors Travis Law and Rosanna Cabarloc.

The rest of the night was great for the falcons. Highlighting the evening was senior Travis Law as he ran for two touchdowns and caught a pass from Pathiratne for another. Bobby Castenada led the defensive scoring with two interceptions returned for touchdowns, and Jerry Sul connected on all five of his conversion attempts to lead the falcon special teams squad. The Comets only score came in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter as the third string falcon defense allowed the badly beaten James Lick team to reach the endzone. The entire Homecoming Week, including the spirited win over the Comets, was a great success.

Homecoming Spirit

Spirit Week

Day One: Hats Galore

The first day of Spirit Week was a success. Monday enabled students to wear all sorts of headwear to school. Variety came in the decorations, sizes, styles, materials, and colors of the hats. There were; big hats, little hats, straw hats, felt hats, and hats that were blue. Round hats, flat hats, cowboy hats, prairie hats, Al Capone hats, and checkered hats were shown too. Besides having hats for the head, there were also hats for the body. Senior Brian Kinross stole the show as he paraded around school dressed as a miniature man wearing an enormous paper hat. Borrowing his baby brother's jeans and painting a face on his stomache carried off the masquerade. Picked by the Executive Council for it's simplicity, Hat Day easily let students participate in showing their Homecoming Spirit. In some cases paper hats were not needed as students found longago stuffed away hats in the back of their lockers. Getting into the spirit of the week, predictably, spirited Mrs. Dawson wore a hat while also wearing our school colors. The excitement of the day, though, pinnacled once it was learned that the class of '84 placed first in the spirit competition — took a close second, and, the — and — placed third and fourth, respectively.

Day Two: Punk Rock

Colors began spreading through the halls as Punk Rockers invaded Hill's campus. The spirit of Homecoming took hold while shades of gold and white mixed with purples, yellows, greens, oranges, blues, and reds grew in intensity. It was Monday night when all the radicals dug into their closets to get out the whips, chains, and hair dyes needed for Tuesday's Punk Rock Day. Everything from multi-colored spiked hair, tight jeans, and neck chains to bizarre make-up, mini-skirts, whipcords, and torn shirts were seen. Some students were even dragged to school on leashes. This day seemed to be the most popular as a large amount of the student body participated.

Day Three: Toga

By the time Wednesday rolled around, sheets had already been put out in preparation for Toga Day. Andrew Hill was transferred back to a time period between 27 B.C. and 395 A.D. as students were seen walking around imitating the dress of Romans. Some students demonstrated Hill creativity by dressing with a modern touch. Mickey Mouse, flowered, Star Trek, bright pink, Smurf, or even Star War togas were shown. Other more inconspicuous students wore ordinary white togas. The highlight of the day, though, was during lunch as students marched around the quad rocking to "Safety Dance" by Men Without Hats. In this competition each of the classes placed first, earning themselves 10 extra points.

Day Four: Class Color

Classrooms were bombarded with a variety of colors Thursday as spirited students displayed the pride they felt for their class. Freshmen wore yellow, sophomores came decked out in green, juniors in blue plundered Hill, while the Class of '84 proudly showed off their red "Catch our Spirit" shirts. It was shown, as the day rolled on, that some students took the notice over the daily bulletin to wear the color of their class very literally. Junior Ruth Bakow was seen with colored blue skin along with blue hair and clothes. Another student who drew stares was Dustin Wood who wore a dyed frizzy green wig which could be seen instantly in a crowd. But, eventually each of the classes showed their pride since all of them received first place in the spirit competition.

Day Five: School Color

The week ended on a good note as students dressed in the gold and white colors of Andrew Hill. The excitement continued into the Homecoming game held that same night as the Falcons "crushed the Comets."

Festival of Fun

Hill held the dance where gals caught their guys on Friday, November 18th. An overwhelming turnout of people filled the gym and the Sadie Hawkins Dance was packed from 8:00 to 11:00. As students entered the gym they were confronted by the sounds of music provided by Pat Clark from KWSS. Couples came dressed alike to dance the night away. Hay on the floor and pumpkins everywhere were added to the decorations to help set off the festival of fun. As the night progressed, laughter, fun, and excitement filled the air. Students lined up to marry their sweetheart for the night. As noted by junior Trang Phi, "The whole dance was great! I especially loved it when they played 'Truly' by Lionel Richie." At 11:00, when the doors closed, students and faculty alike left the dance with their memories forever captured on film.

The Andrew Hill Drama Department, alias Stage Fright Unlimited, presented "Flowers for Algernon" by David Rogers to a crowd of hundreds last December. The play is a take off from the movie Charlie. Retarded since birth, Charly undergoes an operation that makes him a genius in less than a few months.

Charly was played by senior Norman Brown. Charly's teacher, Mrs. Kinian, was performed by junior Stephanie McCown. The supporting actresses and actors also did a superb job. They were junior Milton Eckles as Professor Herald Nemur, senior Julie Perreira as Charly's psychiatrist, junior Ed Day as Bert, and many more. The entire cast was very articulate and enthusiastic, turning what could have been a perfunctory melodrama into an interesting and realistic production.

"I saw a lot of young, new talent that will be performing in Hill's drama production in the future. I look foward to returning next year to watch their performances," stated graduating senior, Tina Costa.

Seniors "Can" Do It Best

Gumby makes a grand appearance

The Jack Emery Drive Assembly held last December was a high spirited and merry gathering, as the much needed Christmas vacation neared. The spirit leaders performed, along with the band, as usual. Then, two Andrew Hill students that call themselves the "James Sisters" sang the song "Up Where We Belong" so realistically that many students thought they were miming the record. Santa Claus surprised the children from the Child Care Center with a candy cane and a warm hug. The assembly's real purpose, however, began as each class, starting with the freshmen, brought forth their donation of cans. The crowd was shocked when the seniors were finally called, they rolled in four P.E. carts and several boxes all mounded high with food. The seniors somehow collected a total of 1,253 cans, more than any single organization from Hill has ever contributed. (And if you're wondering how they did it. just ask a senior.) The freshmen, sophomores, and juniors collected 106,370, and 43 respectively.

The assembly, turned rally, did not end, however, until the fictional character GUMBY, alias Senior Mascot, made his first appearance at an Andrew Hill assembly. Although the walking cartoon leagend has made other visits to our campus, never before has he appeared before the entire student body. Comments senior Rudy Cadet, "I couldn't believe it, Gumby right before my eyes. I've never seen anything that spectacular in California before . . . "

Gumby lead the seniors in their presentation of cans to the Jack Emery Drive. When asked to comment on the seniors unmatched donation of cans, all Gumby could say was 'yeeee . . . " (Confused? Just ask another senior).

New Video D.J. Highlights Christmas Dance

Michael makes it a "Thriller" of a night

"Hey! I thought I was the D.J.!?"

"I wish he'd stay off my toes"

The Christmas Dance was a spectacular success this year as Andrew Hill was visited by a Sacramento D.J. with a large video screen. Although he couldn't mix, scratch, or bump, his video made up for it. The students that attended were priveleged to see the "Thriller" video that had previewed that afternoon on M-T.V. Since most students were in school when it was shown, the dance was the first chance anyone had to see Michael Jackson in his award winning, smash video.

$300 prize awarded to crafty class

Christmas in the Park is a holiday display put together each year by the city in downtown San Jose. There are many automatic animal fixtures set up with different Christmas themes. Part of the display includes a Christmas tree decorating contest between high schools and community organizations around the area. The decorated trees are judged for originality and appearance. The senior class decided to compete again this year for the $400 prize money. Although they were barely nipped for the first place by Presentation High School, the seniors made Andrew Hill proud, finishing a close second place and winning $300. Mr. Shimizu and Mrs. Claussell, who helped last year's seniors, assisted the class in choosing a theme and provided transportation. Great Job Seniors!

Romance in the Air

A night on the town in a personal limousine, a romantic candlelight dinner for two, a stroll in the moonlight, and a feeling of warmth and affection set in the hearts of two people in love; this was just the beginning of a night that shall never be forgotten by ladies and gentlemen who attended Andrew Hill's Junior-Senior Prom on May 26, 1984. With the theme "Time Will Reveal", adding the final element of enchantment, everyone enjoyed an evening of romance from the breathtaking view at the San Jose Country Club.

Faculty Follies

More than half the teachers and staff members took to the stage last February 23rd and 24th as the Faculty Follies made its first annual debut. The two-night show was compiled of talented and not so talented acts as faculty members proved that they could do more than just teach and run the school. Of course, after some of the acts it was evident that some of the participants should stick to their regular jobs rather than acting; but that was the amusing part of the whole show.

Throughout the night, various singing, dancing, and comedian acts were seen. The show began with the rock n roll band, The No Name Nothings from Nowhere, which included super star singers and guitarists Mr. Berg, Mr. Alves, and Mr. Guido, keyboard specialist Mr. Mustanich, and lead drummer Mr. Bouchard. Other acts included: Micheal Jackson look-a-like, Mr. Collins singing to the beat of Thriller while deadly zombies swooned around him in the fog; The Mighty Marvel with hands he could not control; Mrs. Dawson and Mr. Manning singing a duet and a solo each; Android the space visitor; The Whistlers and their bulging bellies; a Samurai Biology teacher and many more.

The show ended on a classical note as shop teacher Mr. Whitaker received a ballet lesson from dance instructor Mrs. Davis. Mr. Whitaker looked quite spectacular in his ruffly pink leotards.

The purpose of this event was to raise money for the senior scholarship fund. The two nights combined raised over $1,400. In all, the Follies was great. It was a good way of getting the faculty more involved as well as being a successful fundraiser. We are all looking forward to next year's show.

Student Government

All of Andrew Hill's student activities are organized by our Student Government. The Student Government is broken into three main branches: the Student Council, the Executive Council, and the Supreme Court. The responsibilities for running an effective Student Government are divided among the three main groups.

The Student Council consists of representatives from each 2nd period class who meet once a month to discuss new ideas for student activities. Members of this branch are responsible for reporting anything discussed in their meetings back to their 2nd period class. The Vice-President of the Student Body is responsible for running the Student Council meetings and reporting any recommendation back to the Executive Council.

The Executive Council consists of several student body elected officials ranging from class president to Commission of Rallies. The responsibilities of each position varies. However, each member is required to maintain a 2.0 GPA and attend all meetings. Each member is given one vote in the council, when deciding on important matters.

The Supreme Court is the last branch of our Student Government. The nine justices main responsibility is to enforce the laws set forth in the constitution which includes monitoring the grade and conduct of other Student Government members. Each member must maintain a 3.0 GPA to be eligible.

Overall, our Student Government, headed by Activities Director, Teresa Maxie, is responsible for every activity involving students. The student members work hard to make the events fun and enjoyable for everyone. We are thankful to have such dedicated students here at Andrew Hill.

Andrew Hill Journalism

Staff reporters add another "Hilite" to the year.

Would having your own printing press put a smile on your face? It would if you were in the Journalism class this year. It was a memorable and glorious year for the staff as they printed the school newspaper, "Hill Hilites", on their new printing press that they acquired last summer. The school paper consists of educational editorials, very colorful photos, and the inside "scoop" about the school that you won't read anywhere else. The class is held together with the help of Mr. Crowther, the advisor. If it had not been for the hard work of all the reporters in Journalism, many students would have had an uninformed year. Some of the reporters in Journalism have said that because they are such talented writers, soon the big newspaper companies will be begging them to defect from "Hill Hilites" to write stories for them. But not to worry, all of the Journalism reporters will be loyal to the falcons . . . we hope.

Marvin SooHoo: "As editor of the Journalism staff, it has helped me communicate with others better and has provided me with something I have wanted to do for a long time, that is, to take charge!"
Martin SooHoo: "Journalism gives me an opportunity to learn what it takes to organize a newspaper. Being editor only makes it a more difficult task; but it also gives me more of a challenge."

Dao Do (Assistant Editor): "I find Journalism exciting because when the deadlines come around it's as busy as anything."

Jill Paterson (Assistant Editor): "Journalism is challenging because it requires a different style of writing. It's a lot of fun working together to put out the paper."

Mr. Crowther: "I've been the newspaper advisor for seven years. This year is really a "Hilite" year. We are fortunate enough to be writing our stories on a word processor and for the first time in Hill's history we are printing the paper on campus. This is also the year the Falcon Flash, our mimeograph newsletter, died."

Tom finishes writing out an article for the Washington Post. Then he will complete his cover story for Time Magazine. (Tom is one of our less experienced reporters.)

The Hill Energy Action Troup was full of energy this year as they competed against all the schools in the East Side Union High School District in an energy saving competition and won first place for the second year in a row. They submitted a written portfolio and also presented an oral report on how our school could save energy. Assisted by Ms. Harris, Mr. Franke, and Mr. Goodman, H.E.A.T. tries to help people become aware of what they can do to save energy, and thus save money. The club goes on field trips and hosts some of their own contests. One of this year's field trip included a visit to P.G. & E., where students learned about alternate energy sources. H.E.A.T. members are very dedicated when it comes to giving energy saving tips. But, while they are saving all that energy and money, they also have a great time.

Christian Fellowship

Not pictured: Jill Patterson, Karen ALFORD, Yen Le, Hoan Nguyen, Phan Ta, Lane Patterson, Brian Newman, and advisor Mr. Burner.

The Christian Fellowship Club gives members a chance to learn about Christ. They have many interesting activities throughout the year, such as: bible study, singing, prayer, and guest speakers. They also have discussions relating Christian faith to daily life. Mr. Burner, the advisor, comments about the club, "I am encouraged about the dedication of the students and their interest with sharing Christ with others." The students associated with the club have prospered because of the knowledge they have gained about Christ.

Dance Club is an organization that gives students a chance to express themselves through the artistry of body movement. The purpose of this club is to teach students how to perform while having fun at the same time. When asked why she enjoys the Dance Club, the advisor, Mrs. Davis, replied, "Dance Club is one of those things that I do 'for love' because I sure don't get any money for it. Dance for me is a creative outlet, it's recreation, it's therapy, it's something I can do if and when I want to!" This year the Dance Club performed at Career Day, the Christmas Assembly the Mult-cultural show, and at the Spring Musical. When members were not practicing or studying dance styles, they were hurrying around trying to raise money for much needed dance costumes. Their fundraisers involved having an after school bake sale, and selling both gift checks and stationary. One of their more favorite activities was a pizza night at Round Table Pizza in which each member ate all the pizza they wanted. But, fortunately, (for Kim Chang,) all the extra energy went back into the afterschool practice held the following week!

Composed of students interested in unlocking the door to success, Key Club members joined together to help raise money for scholarships, sponsored a blood drive, and were very successful in the March of Dime. Sam Sweet commented, "The Key Club is a very educational club that gives students the opportunity to care for others while developing good citizenship and leadership qualities." This club consists of six people; President Sam Sweet, Vice-President Christine Herran, Secretary Jill Patterson, Treasurer Karen Alford, Seargant-at-arms Rudy Cadet, and Randy Shamburger. Due to losing Mr. Garcia to Silver Creek High this club operated without an advisor until Mr. Whitaker took over. Sam Sweet is an honored member for coordinating an unsuccessful club that burdened the community.

If you have a desire to perform on stage, help with lighting, or make-up, then Andrew Hill has an excellent outlet for your energies. It is the Drama Club headed by director Gary Berg. The club officers (President Norman Brown, Vice-President Julie Perreira, Secretary Stephanie McCowen) put alot of effort to make it an exciting year. The organization put on three plays. They started off with a drama, then they performed a comedy, and to end on a good note, they finished with a musical review. Fundraisers were an essential part of this year activities to pay for the annual Andy Awards. The awards are given to the best members of the drama club and are taken as seriously as the well known Tony Awards. According to an avid drama critic, Carmel Ordaz. "We have some real superior talent at this school. In fact, some members may even become famously known throughout the world. They might be on a Puppy Chow commercial in the distant future. I think that Mr. Berg has done a superior job." Well done kids and we'll be seeing you in the movies.

"Fleur de Lis is an honor society that recognizes those students who excell academically. Yet, these students must be involved in more than just their schoolwork," commênted Ngoc To, president of Fleur de Lis. A chapter of National Honor Society, Fleur de Lis encourages leadership, character, scholarship, and service. Students are elected by the faculty who take these qualities into consideration. One must apply, though, in the spring of their junior or senior year. To fulfill their school service, this year's five old members (President Ngoc To, Vice-President Jill Patterson, Secretary/Treasurer Karen Alford, Thang Tran, and Chris Herran) along with the nineteen initiated members, hosted a second annual National Leadership Week during April 23-27, 1984. Potential leaders at Andrew Hill listened to speakers, participated in seminars, and learned leadership qualities. According to member Karen Alford, "This leadership week not only involved itself with students being leaders in school but also empasized to the idea of being a leader in everything a person does." The valuable contribution of these students aided in the success of their program and showed what a leader really is.

Above: Brian thinks about the money he is going to make from their "World Tour."

Andrew Hill Band

Falcon band cuts down in size, but not in sound.

This year's band did a remarkable job. They played mostly Jazz and Pop music. The interest in Jazz/Pop has grown amoung the members and they not only play their instruments better, but they also learn music theory, harmony, and composition. Performing is very important to the band. Their first performance was at a school rally after which they received a big round of applause. One of the band members, Brian Newman, comments about the band, "The band is doing great, next fall we're going to record a couple of albums, and then go out on a world tour." Mr. Bouchard, the band conductor, comments, "I feel very positive that the students have shown interests in learning all aspects of music."

This year's band was not as big as most school's bands, but they had the sound of a thirty piece orchestra. The instruments played by the band varied from flutes to drums, and clarinets to keyboards. Their small size did not keep them from performing to their fullest. After all, it's not the size that counts, but the quality.

A.S.U.

The Asian Student Union (A.S.U.) is formed by many Asian and some non-asian students. The purpose of this organization is to provide activities for students who share common interests and a common cultural background. The hard-working officers for the club were president Dao Do, vice-president Thang Tran, secretary Yen Le, treasurer Tuong Do, and sergeant-at-arms Quan Vu. This year's club participated in several social activities. One such activity entailed holding a very successful pot-luck dinner banquet during the Christmas holidays. Food ranging from egg rolls to potato chips were available. More activities involved sponsoring a fundraiser such as a See's Candy Sale. According to Dao Do the money earned will be used to provide financial assistance in the way of scholarships to graduating club members. (Such as herself, as she keeps telling her club members!) With the hard-work of these dedicated officers and their advisor Mrs. Pow, this year's A.S.U. accomplished their much worthy goals.

Audio Visual Crew

If you are wondering who gives you those great sounds at lunch and rallies, well it's none other than the AUDIO VISUAL CREW (KHIL). They are the heart and soul of every rally. In other words they are responsible for the sound that the students hear. During the year, the A.V. crew played almost every request, whether it was oldies, rock & roll, new wave, or soul. Two of the top Disc Jockys of the year were Hassan Loharsingh and Tony Beazie. Tony Beazie, also known as COOL BREEZE, is the president and teacher of the younger crew members. He comments on how he got started in the field, "Since the age of five I've listened to the radio. When I was old enough, I brought my own equipment and began training myself. But, when I got into KHIL my whole life changed. I became mentally insane, making several visits to Agnews for check ups. Oh well, nobody's perfect . . . "

Mock Trial

Novice attorneys earn 2nd place

Last February the Andrew Hill Mockees locked heads with four different schools in the Santa Clara County Mock Trial Competition. The team finished first place in the district and second in the county with a 3-1 record. In the first round of the tournament they were matched against an experienced Prospect team; but despite the fact that the team had put in very little practice they still put up a good fight, losing by just 4.5 points. By the second round, however, Hill had all the experience they needed, stunning Branham with a near perfect score of 67 out of a possible 70. Hill returned to beat Lynbrook in the semi-finals, putting the Falcons in the finals for the first time in the history of the contest. The final match proved to be the toughest as Hill edged Lincoln by just one point to take second place. The score was even right up to the closing minutes when attorney Randy Shamburger gave a well executed ending statement to secure the win for Hill.

Hill began practicing just one week before the competition. However, their opponents had been preparing themselves since last November and were also helped by professional attorneys in which Hill was not. We are all very proud of this year's team, not only for making it to the finals for the first time, but for their ability to compete against schools with so much more experience, and win!

Although competition was the initial motivation for our team, the lasting value of this experience comes from their understanding of our judicial system and the process we use as we strive to create a just society.

The Audio Visual Crew has not been the same since seniors Tony Beazie and Hassan Loharsingh came to Andrew Hill in 1980. The two joined the crew in hopes of learning more about high-tech audio/video equipment. These young men have become two of the best Disc Jockeys this school has ever seen, although their styles are quite different. They both work for their own company. Tony is better known for doing small parties, weddings, and the noontime music. As president of the A.V. Crew Tony has been setting up all the audio equipment at the rallies, assemblies, and sporting events for a few years now. Without his knowledge of the system many of these events would not have been possible. Hassan, on the other hand, has been more in the spotlight with performances at school dances, the I.E.S. Hall, the Fairgroungs, and "Battle of the D.J.'s", in which he won a $1000 first place prize. Hassan has developed a unique talent in mucic playing that has made him popular with all kinds of music lovers. Together, Tony and Hassan have been the heart and soul of our A.V. Crew for the past years. We will miss their talent and their dedication. Their style of music will echo in the halls of Andrew Hill for years to come.

Photographers Develop in a Flash

The many students with photographic interests that make up the Photo Club started off with a bang this year. They had a successful candy drive in order to improve and modernize their club. "One of the main goals we have is to acquire Andrew Hill's very first color enlarger," remarked Rudi Franke, the club's advisor. As the year continued, these creative members organized other activities in order to raise more funds.

The club traveled on field trips, in order to capture nature's very best creations. Together, these student became more familiar with the finer techniques of working with pictures. Although they are not quite ready for Sports Illustrated or Time Magazine, they have shown good progress and have done well in photo contests throughout the Bay Area. "The photo club is a great club, and I hope more students get involved because it's one of the most rewarding clubs this school has to offer," commented Ernest Apolinar, The club's president. He continued by saying, "One of our goals for next year is to obtain a photo button machine which costs about $400." At the end of the year, the club is offering a few scholarships to its senior members. This is the first time the club has given scholarships; and the six or seven seniors in the club are looking forward to it.

Ink and Feathers

Long hours and a tremendous effort is put into the annual literary magazine Ink and Feathers. Sold at the end of the year for the cost that it took to publish it, this magazine consists of stories and poems written by students and teachers alike. While the poems may range from mushy love ballads to verses about our school, the stories vary from fiction to reality. To further keep you in enjoyment, the popular senior wills section and picturesque drawings are included. Held together with the help of their editor Debbie Gutierrez, this staff has been very successful in putting out an entertaining magazine. For material to be published in this accumulation of literature it must first pass a majority approval of the staff. Much time and dedication went into producing this quality magazine. While some members are on the staff to help put it all together, others, who have a real penchant for writing, have also contributed their stories and poems. Each year the staff holds a contest sometime in March in which students contribute designs for the cover of the magazine. This year's winner, receives a cash prize of $10. The time these members volunteered to the 1983-84 Ink and Features clearly was worth it when we viewed the final product.

V.I.S.A.

The Vietnamese Student Association also known as V.I.S.A., is a great help to many Vietnamese students. First of all they get together and help to solve their problems in communication and school work. Luu Chau, who is chief of tutoring, aids all of the students who need help. The club not only gets together for assistance, but for cultural purposes too. For example, they provided entertainment for a Vietnamese New Year show they sponsored. V.I.S.A. has also had picnics, sold candy, and sponsored contests. They have their own Chinese chess team, a math team and a newsletter that contains vietnamese poems, stories, and songs. V.I.S.A. has been a very important club to many Vietnamese students over the years. We are proud to have their organization at Hill.

L.A.S.O.

The Latin American Student Organization Club got off to a good start this year with a large amount of new members. The L.A.S.O. Club sponsored the annual "Cinco de Mayo" Festival which is a celebration that Latins would describe as their Independence Day. The L.A.S.O. Club also sponsored a dance in May to celebrate "Cinco de Mayo", and honor the queen and princessess chosen by the club. The club had a raffle for a V.C.R. in December and had several successful carwashes. President Rene Crodova comments, "L.A.S.O. Club this year has been real successful. Although we did not have many members, we still had a lot of fun. For us, it's the quality that counts.

M.E.S.A.

The Mathematics, Engineering, and Science Achievement Club, also known as M.E.S.A., has helped many minority students achieve higher grades in math and science courses. The club is for anyone, but its chief members are Blacks, Mexican-americans, Puerto Ricans, and Native Americans. The other nationalities are "associate members". M.E.S.A. helps these students in these courses because of the small percentage of them in engineering and science fields. The club offers several valuable services to it's members, such as summer school, tutoring, and career planning. They also have field trips to universities such as San Jose State and industries such as Hewlett Packard. As one of the largest clubs on campus, M.E.S.A. is also one of the most helpful in assisting students who are interested in a higher educational achievement.

Academic Decathlon

"Whiz Kids' earn eighth place in county contest

The Academic Decathlon is a series of ten rigorous tests, each test having a value of 6,000 points, with each member (9 in all, with 3 alternates) capable of achieving up to 1,000 points per test. The ten test areas were mathematics, literature, fine arts, sciene, social science, economics, essay, prepared speech (with two minute impromptu), interviews, and the menacing Super Quiz.

Great thanks must be given to the coaches, Ms. Becker and Mrs. Thomas for their hard work and dedication in producing a well-rounded team who placed eighth overall in the county (out of 30 schools) and second only to Santa Teresa (by only 29 points!) in the district. But the real congratulations must be given to the hard working team members, who put in all the extra hours after school studying and practicing their speeches. This year's team had Trang Phi and Khuong Vu competing at the Honors level with Marvin Soohoo as alternate. The Scholastic level included Jill Patterson and Dao Do with Christine Herran as alternate. Locking heads at the Varsity level were seniors, Randy Shamburger and Annie Henriques with Tom Casalegno as their faithful alternate. The student coach was sophomore Chris Henriques who also contributed many hours assisting the team.

The contestants were awarded certificates of participation and individual awards at a banquet held at the San Jose Hyatt House. Individuals who received special recognition in their level of competition were Khuong Vu — 2nd place in the Essay, Randy Shamburger — 2nd place in the Interview, and Tom Casalegno — 3rd place for overall alternate score. The highlight of the evening was when Randy Shamburger received a Bronze Medal for his 3rd place finish overall (all levels included) in the Interview competition. This is the first medal that an Andrew Hill contestant has received in the three years that the school has competed. The knowledge they gained through this event is not something they will easily forget. It was a rewarding experience as it not only taught them the spirit of competition, but also enriched their minds, culturally, and academically.

President of the club, Rene Cordova, comments, "Many students are in the Pep Club that don't even know it because anyone who goes to the games and cheers for the falcons is a member." The Pep Club is an important part of our school as it promotes the spirit that is needed to produce championship teams. If the players did not feel that the school was behind them all the way, then they would not play well. The Pep Club provides this feeling and a whole lot more. We are thankful to all the devoted fans who have been present at all the games this year. We needed your presense to comfort us when we lost, or congradulate us when we won. Thanks again everyone for all you wonderful support.

According to the director Mr. Bouchard, "You can't really know all the music in the world until you listen. This year's choir has done a lot of listening and it shows by the way they sing." That says it all about this years choir. They were vocal, musical, and worldly when it came to singing great. In order to be a member of C.S.F. students must apply at the beginning of each semester, and have no grades lower than a C. To qualify a minimum of ten points must be earned (for an A grade, a student will receive 3 points and 1 point for a B grade.) The main purpose of C.S.F. is to foster high standards of scholarship, service, and citizenship and to promote appropriate activities among its members. C.S.F. is a highly respected club on campus and has challenged students to join. The football season began in September. Our varsity football team knew it wouldn't be a piece of cake. However, their confidence guided them to many triumphs. Although they suffered a tough loss to Oak Grove, they returned to action the next three games trouncing their opponents with a fired up offense. The team did very well this year despite disappointing injuries to some key players.

The season started with an explosion when the falcons were victorious over Roseville High School, by a score of 12 to 6. Roseville High School, located near Sacremento, played Andrew Hill for a tough opener. Cheerleaders and fans traveled for two hours to cheer the falcons to their fantastic win.

Part of the success our team experienced was due to a well tuned coaching staff. This year's coaching staff consisted of: Head Coach Germain, Coach Alves, Coach Max, Coach Shimizu and Coach Achica, a former Andrew Hill student. All five coaches did a great job. Although the falcons didn't make it all the way to CCS, the coaches felt they had a great amount of energy, and power. They won their last game against Santa Teresa; and made it through the storm. The team ended their season with 7 victories and only 3 losses.

All of our players were really good. It took a lot of team effort to win our games. I felt that we had championship potential, but in order for us to have gone to CCS we had to win all of our remaining games.

Each player had a lot of determination and spirit. When asked what kept him going, John Wright said, *"Because I was a sophomore, it's as if I had something to prove, not to anyone else, but to myself. I guess that's what kept me motivated. Wrestling team presses opponents to the mat

This was a difficult year for our Varsity Wrestling team. The enforcement of eligibility rules was just one factor that hindered the participation of some wrestlers. Although the team didn't have the experience and size, they made up for it with their determination and dedication. The aggressive sport of wrestling requires a great amount of determination and total dedication to win. Few people realize the sacrifices that these wrestlers make each year. Some are underweight and have to gorge themselves before a match, while most are overweight and practically starve themselves. Not only that, but they endure hours of practice under hot heat lamps that make them sweat the weight off. They have to be dedicted to withstand all of this. But, dedication is just one characteristic of our wrestling squad; determination to do their best and never give up is another. As senior wrestler Carter Stutts put it, "This sport requires a lot of determination on our behalf. It is the most demanding and most physical sport. It takes all of this, and a lot of discipline to win." Coach John Gurich works the team hard because he knows how it feels to be a winner and how much pain it takes to get there. Although the team had a difficult season, they held their heads high. They have great respect for their sport and the coaches, and that is the true essence of competition.

Each wrestler was really dedicated to wrestling. They could have been at home eating junk food or watching television, but they chose to come to school and wrestle. They didn't get any recognition or awards but they did experience the satisfaction of doing a good job. Casey commented, *"I wrestle because it gives me a chance to let out a lot of energy and to build confidence in myself. The Andrew Hill Boys Varsity Track team has come a long way. Many of the members were new and had little or no knowledge of track at the start of the season. By the end of the year, however, these members became experts in track. Luckily, there were a few members who were able to use their past experience to teach the basics to the younger falcons. The key returnees were: Phillip Bela and Brian Kinross in distance, Richard Pondo in the sprints, and Randy Shamburger in the pole vault.

The team made up for their late start by working hard everyday. Some of the members ran alone in the morning, as well as, after school with the team. There were a few who even ran on the weekends . The Boys Varsity Track team had its ups and downs; but, despite the problems at the beginning of the season, the team has demonstrated the ability, and eagerness to learn. Throughout the season they have worked long and hard hours together, and have all shown dedication and school pride.

This year's Varsity Baseball team ended their season on a very high note. After starting with an overwhelming 6-0 record, they wound up first in the Mount Hamilton League at the close of the season. Each game they played was full of excitement. There were double plays, stolen bases, and often home runs. The dedicated falcons made it a goal to play every game as if it was the last; and that is what they did.

The team's success throughout the season can be attributed to their total team effort to work together and overcome their mistakes. With the return of several key players, such as Martin Murrietta, Alex Pedragon, and Danny Portillo in pitching, and Alex Corona, Sujeewa Pathiratne, and Travis Law in hitting and fielding, the team emerged from their season as true contenders for the CCS title.

The coaches Danny Marichalar and Joe Ortega were also an important factor in producing a winning team. Their efforts, along with the players ability to stick together through both the good and the bad times, is what made this team so great.

SPRING SPORTS

Hey!! Who drank all the water?

"Swimmers are unquestionably the greatest athletes in the world,"
Tom Fay.

Fortunately for Andrew Hill, the swim team was not deterred by the wet spring weather. The season started on schedule, under the direction of Coach Doug Muntz and Coach Bill Patterson. The team was ready for a fantastic season.

From the outset of the season, the team had high hopes. Due to the unusually large amount of swimmers, the team reached the depth necessary to win meets, unlike past years.

Although the majority of swimmers were underclassmen, the upper classmen carried the team through. Julie Kinross excelled in butterfly, Susie Hodgkins in breastroke, Keith Bailey and Marco Montanez showed great excellence in butterfly, and Tina Costa splashed to expertise on the diving board.

The Falcons were really fired up for the season. Practices were tough; a true swimmer though was able to endure it all. The practices payed off though. By the time the meets started, the Falcons were prepared for any team. The Falcons did very well against most teams, but the teams that gave the Falcon swimmers real trouble were Independence and Santa Teresa. The Sixers and Saints have beaten us for the past years so the loss was no big surprise.

In the past, the Falcon swimmers consisted solely of quality, but this year was different.

"I was glad to see lots of students out for swimming. Now I know when I leave, there will be enough underclassmen to keep swimming afloat," stated Senior Tina Costa.

After being reinstated as a school sport, the Badminton team started its season with great enthusiasm. The team had only a few returning players; but, by the start of the season, it had developed into a solid team. As the year progressed, the Falcons defeated every opponent, resulting in the M.H.A.L. title, with a record of 9-0.

The team's strength can be attributed to it's long hours of running, jumping rope, linework, and basic skill work. The coach, Miss Harris, commented, "I feel that teaching the basics sets a strong foundation for being successful on the courts. A player cannot advance until she is confident with her own ability." The team was made up of mostly inexperienced girls but by mid-season it was highly competitive and hard to beat. The only girls with any experience on the team were seniors, Chris Herran, who placed third on a doubles team in CCS last year, Annie Nantuna, Ngoc To, and Dung Tran, and junior, Trina Ferguson. Highlighting the year was No. 1 Singles, Chris Herran, who placed first in M.H.A.L. and went on to C.C.S. Miss Harris, as well as the players themselves, can be proud for having had such a successful season.

Since the Frosh-Soph Baseball team was inactive last year, this year's team had to start from scratch with many young and inexperienced players. Although the team lacked experience, Coach Martell worked the team hand in order to make them competitive within the league. The cooperation and determination of the players resulted in a very successful season. Mark Munoz stated, "We have never worked with each other before, but we were able to pull together and win." The team did well because it had individuals with talent. Coach Martell replied, "It was great working with players who could play the game well. Varsity baseball will be getting some strong players next year."

Head Coach: Ruben Martell

"Due to the fact that we got a late start, we had early-season difficulties and lost our two pre-season games. However, when the bell rang and the season started, this hard-working group earned a lot of respect from all the coaches of teams aroung the league."

(A Smurfy Dude)

I have really enjoyed my years here at Hill. I also have enjoyed cheering for Hill and I hope that Hill will have more male cheerleaders in the future. I will be a professional cheerleader for U.S.A. (United Spirit Association) and I will never be able to thank the spiritleaders, my advisor, and my friends at Hill enough for their support in helping me accomplish this feat. Andrew Hill has had a bad reputation, but this year the students at Hill have shown that Hill is just as good as any other high school, if not better; . . . Don't give up the spirit! I'm proud to graduate from such a great school. Thanks to the faculty for your help and for your great show, The Faculty Follies. Special thanks to my friends and my younger brothers, Eric, Casey and Ty for making Hill fun for me. I ask that Hill take good care of two incoming freshmen; my younger brother Donte and my kid sister Jennette Mitchell. To all my friends remaining at Hill: Hang in there and I love you all.

Year in Review

The events that marked the major news points of the year were distinguished by their variety — from the Box Office hit, "Flashdance", last summer to the Winter Olympics in Sarajevo. The year was filled with good times as well as bad.

The summer of '83 brought us great movies like "Return of the Jedi", which introduced us to such characters as Jabba the Hutt and the adorable Eewoks, and "Flashdance", which set a new fashion trend. It was a time to let 'er rip as torn sweatshirts became the thing to wear.

On the political scene, controversy spread concerning the briefing papers that were mysteriously stolen from the Carter campaign file while Secretary of the Interior, James Watt, talked himself out of a job.

In September, the Baltimore Orioles put the squeeze on the Philadelphia Phillies in the World Series. Unfortunately, the excitement of baseball fizzled after a Russian fighter-plane shot down a Korean airliner that drifted into Soviet airspace. 269 passengers were killed instantly.

The greatest tragedy since Pearl Harbor shocked the nation in October when 218 Americans were killed after a bomb exploded in the Marine compound in Beirut. Rescue crews spent days digging bodies out of the rubble caused by the explosion.

A human chain, composed of more than 200,000 West German anti-nuke protesters, stretched 65 miles to block the installment of nine nuclear missiles. Unfortunately, the missiles were still deployed.

100 million viewers sat in front of their televisions to watch "The Day After", a super media-hyped, graphic depiction of a nuclear war and its gruesome after effects. The movie sparked nationwide controversy over the nuclear arms movement.

Christmas brought hundreds of voices all crying for the ownership of a Cabbage Patch Doll. reports report consumers paid up for the cuddly doll. It seemed that having babies was the thing to do and more than three million women were producing real, live dolls.

Sally Ride became the first American woman in orbit aboard the space shuttle while the AIDS epidemic spread even further within the gay community.

Both the Cowboys and Indians were in the playoffs, but neither team won the bit won. It was the Oakland Raiders who ran away with the Superbowl crown this year with a lopsided victory over the seemingly invincible Redskins. They pounded the Hogs for the largest pointspread in Superbowl history, 38-9. Mike Rozier won the Heisman while McEnroe and Navritilova dominated the tennis world. Yuri Andropov died and Ma Bell hung up her apron for good, splitting the phone industry into several independent corporations. Paul "Bear" Bryant and David Niven died of old age, and newscaster, Jessica Savitch, drowned in a tragic car accident.

Three songs off the album, Synchronicity, from the Police, reached the top five of the record charts: "Every Breath You Take" was number one for 8 weeks. Boy George led a British rock invasion while Michael Jackson single handedly pulled the record industry out of a slump with the year's No. 1 LP, Thriller, which had 7 singles featured in the top 10. Epic Records had to fight to get his videos on MTV, but then "Beat It" became the hottest clip of '83.

American athletes traveled to Sarajevo, Yugoslavia to compete in the Winter Olympics. American Scott Hamilton captured the gold in Men's Figure Skating, while other young athletes won medals in the Downhill and Couples Figure Skating.

The Nation's High-tech computer industry grew even larger while overseas, Princess Diana made it two, adding another to the royal family of England. "Terms of Endearment" made many people cry and Americans pulled out of Beir
